Description

Situated in a dominant and private position in Asciano, in the heart of the Crete Senesi, this 88 sqm property offers a perfect balance between privacy and panoramic views.

The dwelling opens into an eat-in kitchen that leads to the dining room, served by a first bathroom. On the raised ground floor, there is a characteristic mezzanine used as a first double bedroom, a versatile space that can also be used as a living area. The first floor houses the second double bedroom with its private bathroom. Outside, the property features a functional private area for outdoor dining. The offer is completed by a communal infinity pool, shared with only 7 units, and a privileged view over the surrounding hills.

The building has recently been the subject of a meticulous restoration aimed at preserving the original Tuscan rural architecture. The intervention enhanced and highlighted authentic features such as terracotta flooring and suggestive wooden beams, which provide the rooms with a warm and traditional atmosphere.

The property is served by all main utilities: the heating is powered by LPG and a fireplace, the water supply is guaranteed by the public aqueduct, and there is a well dedicated to irrigation. The house features an Internet connection and an electric gate shared with the other residential units.

The location guarantees maximum privacy without sacrificing proximity to services, making the property functional for every need. Being already successfully included in the tourist rental circuit, it represents a solution ready for income generation, while also being perfectly suited as a primary residence.
